

Natalia: Change Agent

My name is Natalia and I work for Beginning of Life (BOL) in Moldova for 12 years now. From year to year my motivation to work with BOL becomes deeper. The main goal is still the same – I see that this ministry to prevent trafficking and restore women who are victims is good in God’s eyes, because Jesus showed by His own example what does it mean to serve people. I want to share a few things which help me to move forward and to keep my hands up and I think these will help you too.

- Many people are isolated from the world and they think that the problems of this society are not their own problems, and because of that they are very passive, nothing can really touch them. In the reality we understand that all processes in our country influence us, so we need to be very sensitive to the needs of people who surround us. Doing something for people from our generation, we indirectly help and to the future generations.
- The Lord left us in between needy people to make us more kind and soft, and because of seeing so many people in need, I can realize how many blessings I have from Him. I feel that I am very blessed and happy because I was not put in such situations, through go a lot of our beneficiaries. This is a kind of spiritual therapy – helping to others, we develop ourselves, we became stronger for the Kingdom.
- There is a saying – that it is very important to be in a proper time in a proper place together with proper people. I feel that I am in such place, time and team now. Together we can answer on many challenges which we face in our lives and lives people, who surround us.

I always ask God in my prayers that He will be alongside me and He will guide me in a place where He wants, and He will stop me from the places, where He doesn’t see me. I also pray for the positive results in lives of the girls from our rehab program. We understand that we not just stand against social problems; we see that we are in a spiritual war against evil powers of darkness, and we need support from Jesus Christ every day.

Pray with us, please, that more people will understand our ministry and will join us in prayer. All of us will benefit from that: we, our families, our girls, whom we love, and we know that God loves them also.

I am thankful to God for the people of Global Women who don’t know us, don’t know our girls, but they trust us and they are sure that through our ministry we can change a life, and through this life the whole world can be changed.
